

LABOR LEADERS TO CALL ON WILSON AT CAPITAL TODAY TO EXTEND THANKS

FOUR HUNDRED DELEGATES GO TO WASHINGTON ON SPECIAL PILGRIMAGE.

8-HOUR LAW STRONG ISSUE

PROBABLE THAT CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO ENACT SUPPLE-MENTAL LEGISLATION.

(International News Service.)

Baltimore, Nov. 18.—Labor, some 400 strong, will make a pilgrimage to Washington today to meet and thank President Wilson for his efforts in behalf of the working world.

The pilgrimage will be headed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and other leaders attending the convention of the federation here.

The men are hopeful of hearing from the president the position which the administration will take during the impending turmoil over the Adamson eight-hour bill.

The president will receive the delegation late this afternoon.

After a half holiday the convention proper went into session again today at the Garden theatre prepared to take action on numerous resolutions which the committees have prepared for it.

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO AID CAUSE OF LABOR.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Nov. 18.—Administration leaders here today were ready to turn to congress for further legislation for preventing another railway strike crisis.

Careful consideration of the sparks of industrial fire that have been cropping out in various parts of the country brings the belief that a strike has not been averted.

It is believed President Wilson will insist in December that congress pass his anti-strike program as submitted last August, of which the eight-hour law was a part. The program contained also a formal compulsory mediation provision.

Unrest over labor conditions as evidenced by the American Federation of Labor, now in session at Baltimore, and the national council of the chamber of commerce of the United States, in session here, has brought talk of a national labor trouble of unprecedented proportions. It is felt that the eight-hour day law for all industrial labor is certain to be fought for in the approaching session of congress.

A move was begun to get business organizations in all parts of the nation to join in a strong petition to congress to adopt some form of compulsory mediation for settlement of industrial troubles.

Russellville Cashier Voluntarily Admitted Shortage in Accounts

That the shortage in the accounts of Y. M. Quinn, former cashier of the Tennessee Valley Bank at Russellville, was not discovered, as stated in the Daily of Friday, but was voluntarily acknowledged, was the statement made here today by Rev. R. L. Quinn, a highly esteemed Baptist minister of Hartselle, and brother of the former cashier.

"My brother had become unfortunately involved in speculation, and finding that he was unable to meet his obligations to the bank he sent for President Hendrix and acknowledged the shortage in his accounts," said Rev. Quinn. "He also turned over to the bank such property as he had, and arranged a satisfactory adjustment."

Upon inquiry at the offices of the parent Tennessee Valley Bank in Decatur today, the statement of Mr. Quinn was confirmed by bank officials.

MRS. CALVIN HAS NARROW ESCAPE

DRESS WAS CUT BY BROKEN
GLASS WHEN ENGINE HIT
MOTOR BUS.

Further details of the accident at Birmingham of late Thursday, when a Milner Heights bus was struck by a freight train, were learned today from Mrs. J. H. Calvin on her return here from the Magic City, where she attended the sessions of the Women's Federation.

Mrs. Calvin stated that her dress had been ruined by flying glass when the windows of the bus were smashed by the impact of the engine. Her escape without serious injury was almost miraculous.

Regarding the accident, the following account appeared in the Birmingham News of Friday:

A Milner Heights bus, said to have been driven by T. P. Scroggins, was struck by a freight train of the Alabama Great Southern Thursday night about 8:55 o'clock at Railroad avenue and Twentieth street. At the time of the accident there were six women passengers in the bus and the driver. A woman whose name could not be obtained was slightly injured by flying glass. According to Scroggins, the bus driver, when he reached the tracks of the Louisville & Nashville crossing the flagman was in his house, and did not give him the danger signal until too late to stop.

Mr. Scroggins made the following statement:

"I was going north on Twentieth street. When I reached the railroad crossing I saw the flagman in his house and did not hear or see a train approaching. All of a sudden the flagman came out of his house and began to wave his red lantern. I was within five feet of the crossing and it was too late to stop so I speeded up. I failed to get over the tracks and the engine struck the rear end of the bus."

Officers who were on the scene shortly after the accident occurred could not learn the names of the women passengers, as they left right after the accident. The bus was turned back into position and continued on its way. No arrests were made by the officers.

THREATS TO "GET" TRABUE MADE BY HARRY S. STOKES

PROMINENT MEN TESTIFY AS TO FEELING EXISTING BETWEEN TWO MEN.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—That for three years prior to April 26, when he was shot and killed in private office by Charles C. Trabue, Harry S. Stokes repeatedly made threats against Mr. Trabue, some of which were communicated to him, was brought out yesterday by witnesses examined by attorneys for the defense in Mr. Trabue's trial in the criminal court.

The first threat, it appeared from the testimony, and the first that was communicated to Mr. Trabue, was made to J. Will Taylor, former insurance commissioner.

Mr. Taylor testified that he as insurance commissioner of the state employed Mr. Trabue to represent the state in the impending litigation against the Western & Atlantic and the Independent Life Insurance companies. He told of Mr. Trabue having denounced Mr. Stokes in an answer to a bill which had been filed in the federal court to enjoin the state from filing suits against the insurance companies.

He told of having met Mr. Stokes after the answer was filed at the corner of Third avenue and Union street, and said that Mr. Stokes was infuriated at Mr. Trabue, and announced his purpose of "having it out" with him. He said that he communicated the remark to Mr. Trabue.

R. C. Armstrong, of Lewisburg, a lawyer, testified that he had known Mr. Trabue and knew Mr. Stokes from December, 1915.

Threatened to Fix Him.

In March, this year, at the Hermitage club, Mr. Stokes made reference to Mr. Trabue, he said. R. E. Haynes, an attorney of Lewisburg, was with them. Mr. Stokes was discussing the probe, and referred to a card he said Mr. Trabue had published criticizing the law. He said that he went to Mr. Trabue's office and told him that there was one thing he would like to call him, but out of respect to his mother, would not do so. He said that he cursed and abused Mr. Trabue, the witness said, and that it was not resented by Mr. Trabue. He said further that if Mr. Trabue ever crossed his path that he would fix him, the witness said.

On cross-examination Mr. Armstrong said that he did not communicate the threat or conversation to Mr. Trabue prior to the death of Mr. Stokes.

Leslie Cheek, wholesale grocer, told of his long acquaintance with Mr. Stokes and Mr. Trabue. He told of threats made in April or May, 1915, by Mr. Stokes. He was in the American Bank building, he said, talking to Mr. Stokes about money he said Mr. Stokes was withholding. It was insurance that he had collected and had not paid over, witness said. He said that he told Mr. Stokes that he would employ counsel.

"You had better not bring Trabue that crooked — into this case. That is one man that can't settle anything with me. I am going to kill him anyway, d—n him," he told me.

Mr. Cheek said that he went to Mr. Trabue and told of the threat that had been made against him and urged him to arm himself.

Needed a Hair Cut.

W. E. Norvell, Jr., a lawyer, also engaged in the taxpayers' suit, said that on several occasions Mr. Stokes made remarks about Mr. Trabue. About ten days before his death Mr. Stokes said: "Why in hell doesn't that — take a bath or cut his hair?"

On the last Thursday of the hearing Mr. Stokes said: "Just listen to that — That b—d thinks he can beat me of my fee." The last remark was made in a tone loud enough for Mr. Trabue to have heard, but he was addressing the court and so witness said he did not know whether it was heard. On more than two other occasions he made similar remarks characterizing Mr. Trabue with one or the other of the epithets used, said the witness.

On one occasion Mr. Stokes said something like this: "When Trabue's pugilist wasn't along he was going to ride hell out of him." The remarks were made in the presence of Frank Langford, said the witness.

SCOTT'S OWNERS LIBEL DEUTSCHLAND

ASK $12,000 FOR DAMAGE DONE
TO TUG BY COLLISION.

(International News Service.)

New London, Nov. 18.—The Deutschland was today libeled in a suit for $12,000 damages, brought by the T. A. Scott company, owners of the tug T. A. Scott, Jr., which was sunk by the submarine yesterday with a loss of five lives.

Service was made by Deputy United States Marshal Hawley of Hartford on the owners of the Deutschland, the Eastern Forwarding Company, and a keeper was put in charge of the submarine pending the filing of bonds which are expected to be given by the owners of the Deutschland.

The suit was brought by Edward E. Blodgel, of Boston, and Samuel Park, of New York, proctors for the Scott company. The papers state that the tug was of 36 tons gross and her value is given at $12,000.

In the papers the general claim of carelessness and violation of the rules of navigation is claimed against the Deutschland. It also claimed that the Deutschland suddenly sheered to starboard without warning and hit the tug and that the Deutschland did not have a proper lookout on deck; that there was not a competent deck officer in charge and that the U-boat did not have a competent man at the wheel.

GEN. FUNSTON'S ATTITUDE TOWARD THE BAPTISTS.

There is something wrong in a religious way on the Mexican border. It cropped out yesterday when Gen. Fred Funston, ordinarily a dignified and sedate officer of the United States army allowed himself to give out an interview, in a fit of anger, protesting against a resolution passed this week by the Baptists of Virginia. The Virginians had first protested against an alleged censorship maintained by Gen. Funston over the sermons to be preached to the soldiers.

In the absence of minute details, we are ready to guess that the Baptist minister who told the soldiers they were "lost" did not say all soldiers were hell-bent, but simply those who had not accepted the usual course of salvation. As we see it, it was entirely proper for the ministers to preach to the soldiers in any manner they see fit.

By his interview Gen. Funston has somewhat lowered himself in our estimation.

"The Baptists distorted the statement of my position regarding evangelists telling soldiers that they are lost," Gen. Funston is quoted as saying. "Those that take this position had better put their property in the names of their wives."

Another account adds that Gen. Funston declared the Baptists had better take this precaution as he intended to sue them in the federal court for libel.

Either version leaves Gen. Funston in a bad light. We maintain that Gen. Funston or no other army officer has any right to censor the sermons preached to the soldiers, whether the sermons be preached by a Jewish rabbi, a Catholic priest, a Methodist or a Baptist minister. That is a matter that simply should be beyond his province.

The general's ill temper seems to have been directed at Dr. J. B. Gambrell, a Texas Baptist of wide popularity and a man some twenty years the senior of Gen. Funston. He is a man eminently qualified to take care of himself as he is considered one of the most brilliant and witty ministers in the South. The general will get all he is looking for when he tempts Dr. Gambrell and the Southern Baptists to fight back at him. Funston will be in an especially unfortunate position when he finds that the public sentiment of the nation at large is against him.

As a Philippine campaigner and as guard of the border, Gen. Funston is a success. As a religious critic he is a flat failure.

Beaman Declines to Accept Local Offer

Board of Commerce Must Look Elsewhere for Secretary.

M. R. Beaman, of Goldsboro, N. C., who was tendered the position of secretary of the Albany Board of Commerce at a salary of $2,000 per year, in a telegram today declined the offer. Mr. Beaman stated that his wife objected to leaving Goldsboro.

Babb and Quarles Leave.

Edwin L. Quarles, of the McKeand Service Company, left last night for St. Louis, en route to Indianapolis, while Joseph B. Babb, who remained over to conclude the organization work, will leave Sunday afternoon for Florence, where he will organize a commercial body for that city. Mr. Babb closed headquarters here this afternoon.

During their stay here Messrs. Babb and Quarles made many friends. The success of the campaign was highly gratifying to local business men, who believe that the new Board of Commerce will do much for the upbuilding of the city.

The Board will have offices in the Malone building, above the garage, the use of which was tendered free for one year by B. L. Malone. Upon the arrival of the secretary, various campaigns for securing new industries will be undertaken.

No Developments in Lawler Case Today

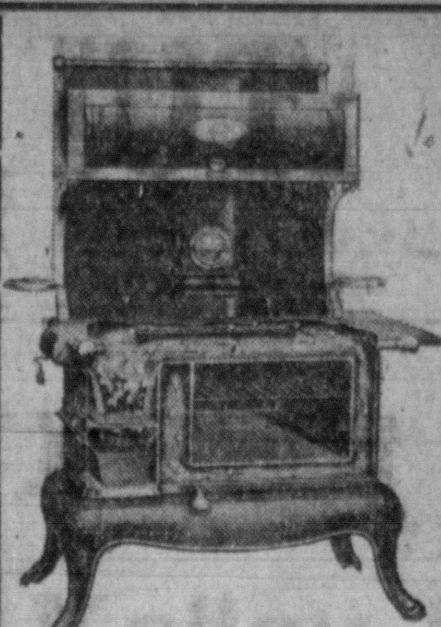

(International News Service.) Huntsville, Nov. 18.—There were no developments in the Lawler murder case today, most of the attorneys on both sides being out of the city since Thursday night.

The grand jury contributed nothing toward making news, but it summoned scores of witnesses on cases on the regular docket. More than 100 subpoenas were sent out Friday and it is not believed any of them concern the Lawler murder. No report has been made and no indictments, and it is not believed the grand jury has entered into the Lawler case yet. The body will remain in session several days longer.

Chas. Nalls and Percy Brooks, who are charged with being implicated with D. D. Overton in the murder of Lawler, will be brought here from Birmingham Monday or Wednesday. Overton's trial is set for Tuesday and it is believed both sides will be ready.

FEDERATION RE-ELECTSALL PRESENT OFFICERS.

Mobile will be the meeting place of the 1917 convention of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs at voted by the convention in its closing session Friday noon, and next November the Federation will go to that city as invited by Mrs. James Hagan, vice president of the seventh district, Mobile.

Officers for the coming year of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs as presented by the nomination committee and elected by the convention Friday morning are: Mrs. J. F. Hooper, of Selma, president; Mrs. J. Alex Moore, of Jasper, vice president at large; Mrs. Lee Moody, of Bessemer, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur Loeb, of Selma, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. J. Haley, of Birmingham, general federation secretary; Mrs. J. H. Calvin, of Decatur, treasurer; Mrs. H. P. Cole, of Mobile, auditor; Mrs. J. D. Elliott, of Birmingham, editor.

In presenting the names of the present officers for re-election, Mrs. L. M. Bashinsky, of Troy, chairman of the nominating committee, spoke of the efficient work of the federation officers during the year past, and for that reason recommended them to the convention for re-election. The convention gave a unanimous vote on this recommendation.

Following the introduction of the re-elected officers and their acceptance addresses the twenty-second annual convention of the Federated Clubs of the state was closed at 12 o'clock.

The Federation secretaries and state officials to the State Federation held in Birmingham report a great success. Honors were heaped on Mrs. Jno. D. Wyker, who is the only pioneer now in the state. Of the twenty-two meetings of the state organization she has never missed one, and her presence really is significant at all state meets. The Music Study club of Albany-Decatur, was represented this year by Miss Margaret Clarkson, who never appeared to better advantage than before these women who are students of music, both of the past and present. Because of the timidity of our North Alabama song bird the world has not known the beauty of her talent. The federation was at first startled, then thrilled, by the clear velvety tones that with no effort poured at will from her splendid throat. Such expressions as "She shows such artistic maturity," "She challenged dangerous comparisons on that program on which she acquitted herself so admirably," were heard on all sides. Miss Clarkson had an ovation. Mrs. Jas. Hagan, of Mobile, chairman of the state music committee, was enthusiastic itself, as with outstretched

BRYAN STARTS FIGHT TO MAKE U. S. DRY

IS NOW IN INDIANA CONFERRING WITH DRY LEADERS OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

(International News Service.)
Indianapolis, Nov. 18.—W. J. Bryan today began his drive to make the democratic party "dry." He laid the foundation for his political fight in Indiana with a conference of dry democrats, the first conference of politicians since the announcement this week of his intention to wage a political fight to commit his party to national prohibition.

Arriving here with Mrs. Bryan, who is a delegate to the National W. C. T. U., his campaign took three courses. He endorsed the work of the temperance union, he planned to join suffragists in a mass meeting and he took up the political battle.

MASK BALL GIVEN BY THE YOUNG LADIES.

In this case we cannot say that anticipation was greater than realization, when the young ladies of the cities gave a mask ball last night. The Colonial hall was prettily decorated with clinging ivy and pink crepe paper, the Varnelle orchestra completing the scene and making it a living picture. The elite of the cities was in attendance. The Colonial hall preserved its reputation for just such functions.

Speedy and Easy Riding

There's little comfort in most low priced cars. You can't use their speeds. They jostle you—they ride roughly—they don't hold the road.

The $635 Overland is different. It is not only the speediest of low priced cars—

But you can use the full speed of its powerful motor when you need it.

It has long 42-inch, easy riding, shock absorbing cantilever rear springs. In addition the 75 B Overland is a longer car—104-inch wheelbase. And it has 4-inch tires.

Its smoothness and ease of riding at any speed would do justice to a much larger and heavier car.

Come in and let us demonstrate. That's the best kind of proof.
